

COUNSELLORS & PSYCHOTHERAPISTS IN PRIMARY CARE

Experts in Primary Care Counselling and Psychotherapy

CPC 2010 SUPERVISION TRAINING TAILOR MADE FOR TODAY'S NHS COUNSELLOR

This successful course is now entering its fourth year.

The demands for specialist supervision in medical settings is greater than ever.

CPC combines its professional, clinical and training expertise to deliver this one year

Post Graduate course in Supervision for the Primary Care setting.

- Are you an experienced primary care counsellor?
- Do you wish to develop your experience to become a supervisor?
- Are you currently supervising and need further training in this specialist area?

Commencing March 2010, CPC's One Year Diploma Course will take place on 10 Saturdays, monthly throughout the year. The Course will:

- Meet training standards for supervision in line with CPC & the training requirement of BAPPS (90 hrs)
- Meet specialist NHS requirements for supervision
- Be suitable for experienced NHS counsellors and psychotherapists from a range of theoretical models of practice
- Provide the general skills and competencies for professional clinical supervision
- Provide an understanding of the NHS organisation and context
- Clarify the roles of therapy, supervision and management
- Examine the interface between the psychological and the medical paradigm and its impact on clinical work in the NHS
- Develop an awareness of organisational, ethical, and legal issues relating to supervision in the NHS context
- Comprise theoretical seminars and supervised supervision groups
- Consider the implications of clinical supervision within IAPT models of service provision
